

Dear Sir or Madam,

My love of computers began at age 11 when my family got its first PC. Shortly after I began programming with Visual Basic. From there I moved on to other languages and began learning System Administration as well. When it comes to computers, I never want to stop learning new things. This trend has held true for over a quarter century now. In my day-to-day life every time I have an obstacle to overcome my first thought is "how can I use computers to solve this problem." I recently graduated with a B.S. in Computer Science and relocated to Chicago, IL.

I am excited about the Entry-Level Developer (Web/.NET) position that Rightpoint recently published on Built In Chicago.

I believe that my sheer passion for computers including experience with with HTML/CSS/JavaScript, React for SPAs, and SQL/NoSQL in combination years of office and management experience – always with a customer focus – makes me an ideal candidate for the Entry-Level Developer (Web/.NET) position. Thank you for your consideration and would be open to discuss other positions as well.

Sincerely,

Jason Brunelle
