Dear Sir or Madam,

I met Cassie Turk a couple months ago and her description of Narrative Science intrigued me. I would love to be able to be a part of such a team where I can learn from other passionate individuals as well as contribute my skills towards the organization. My love of computers began at age 11 when my family got its first PC. Shortly after I began programming with Visual Basic. From there I moved on to other languages and began learning System Administration as well. When it comes to computers, I never want to stop learning new things. This trend has held true for over a quarter century now. In addition I have years of customer service experience and truly understand the importance of delivering a quality product. I recently graduated with a B.S. in Computer Science and relocated to Chicago, IL.

I am excited about the Software Engineer In Test position that Narrative Science recently published on Built In Chicago. I believe that my sheer passion for computers in combination with years of office and management experience – always with a customer focus – makes me an ideal candidate for the Software Engineer In Test position. Thank you for your consideration and would be open to discuss other positions as well.

Sincerely,

Jason Brunelle